Measurable results expected from the intern

The project is aimed at students deeper understanding of different cultures and western China. We will have some surveys and evaluation; also collect feedbacks at each school. The major measurements include: 1) students' understanding of the cultures displayed by interns; 2) students' understanding of education of West regions of China; 3) participation of students in group work; 4) feedbacks for trainees from the school.

Key learning points that the intern might obtain during the internship

1) Chinese culture and international culture experience; 2) Cross-culture communication skills, teaching and presentation skills; 3) Knowledge about Chinese culture and other interns' cultures, knowledge about topics of development and education in western China; 4) Abilities of adapting to foreign cultures, team work, planning and designing. (5) The interns themselves will have a deep understanding about the western China. (6) Chinese languages

Preparation required from the intern before arrival

Each intern is expected to prepare a short self presentation and a presentation (usually multimedia presentation) of their culture. Furthermore abundant distinguished materials, such as your national flag, costumes, movies, books, history, music, as more as you can imagine. And some presentations about topics of Development and Education in Western China, like poverty, biodiversity and CSR (chose one or two topics). We have some materials about these topics. If you want to make the presentations more popular, we prefer you can find some more materials related to your country's reality or your own experiences by yourself. Learn more knowledge about the western of China, such as circumstance of western China, poverty and so on. Try to know more about how to communicate with students. Master basic knowledge about China, including food, culture and so on.

Additional information which a potential candidate may require for the internship

The motivation of teaching Chinese youth and passion for China are preferred. We'd like the interns to be flexible and open to reasonable changes in teaching topics and activities according to school reality. Cultural sensitivity and sense of responsibility are required. And as teachers are regarded as role models by students in China, we'd like the interns to respect the local cultures and obey reasonable rules set by the schools. You will be living with trainees from other countries in the same program! Our LC has created a special interaction conference.
